

Global Challenges Science Week

from June 3, 2019 to June 6, 2019

International interdisciplinary days of Grenoble Alpes

Save the date

Addressing global challenges urges a strong worldwide collaboration of scientists from different fields. To this aim, Univ. Grenoble Alpes' GCSW brings together scientists, experts and stakeholders from all around the world to share the latest research results, carrying out transdisciplinary conversations, and providing an opportunity for setting-up new international collaborations to deal with the following 21st century issues:

Sustainable planet and society,
Health, well-being and technology,
Digital world,
Understanding and fostering innovation

On the programme of this invaluable networking opportunity, you will find more than 20 outstanding scientific workshops and lectures, also cultural activities, with a highlight evening on Wednesday 5 June including a "Science Week" awards ceremony.

The information about the event will be frequently updated on the webpage:
